

Am J Cardiol. 2005 Mar 15;95(6):801-4.  FULL-TEXT ARTICLE Links

Left ventricular function in children with sleep-disordered breathing.

Amin RS, Kimball TR, Kalra M, Jeffries JL, Carroll JL, Bean JA, Witt SA, Glascock BJ, Daniels SR.

Department of Pulmonary Medicine, Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center, Cincinnati, Ohio 45229, USA. aminr@chmcc.org

Severe obstructive sleep apnea in children leads to congestive heart failure. We studied the early changes in left ventricular function across a range of severity of the disorder. A dose-dependent decrease in diastolic function with increased severity of obstructive apnea was demonstrated.

PMID: 15757619 [PubMed - indexed for MEDLINE]