

Minerva Stomatol. 1990 Oct;39(10):863-6. Links

[The role of tympanometric examination in the orthodontic study of mouth breathers]

[Article in Italian]

Staffolani N, Guerra M, Pugliese M, Cervini M.

Cattedra di Ortognatodonzia e Gnatologia, Università degli Studi di Perugia.

The mouth breathing is a multidisciplinary problem; in fact, when the orthodontist finds a patient with altered dento-skeletal growth due to this abnormal mode of breathing, to establish a correct treatment planning, he needs to be supported [correction of comforted] by ear, nose and throat examinations. Among these, the tympanogram, because of its simple execution and of the interesting data obtained, has a very important role in the orthodontic approach of the oral breather.

PMID: 2074874 [PubMed - indexed for MEDLINE]